STATE GROUP FAVORS PAT HARRISON FOR U. S. PRESIDENCY

Mississippi State Democratic Executive Committee Adopts Resolution Favoring Nomination of Mississippi's Favorite Son For Nation's Highest Honor.

The Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee Monday at Jackson unanimously approved a resolution favoring the nomination and election of U. S. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi for president in 1940.

There was no discussion or debate on the resolution, which was presented by Mrs. Nell Hunt, executive committee member of McComb.

The resolution proposed to express the endorsement of the Democratic party in Mississippi and was constructed by some to mean that Mississippi's state convention would instruct its delegates to the national convention to vote for Harrison.

The resolution follows:

"A resolution voicing the sentiment of the Democratic party of the state of Mississippi in favor of the nomination and election of our illustrious United States Senator Pat Harrison for president of the United States in 1940.

"Be it resolved by the State Democratic Executive Committee of the state of Mississippi that we voice the sentiment of the Democratic party of the state of Mississippi in favor of the nomination and election of our illustrious United States Senator Pat Harrison for president of the United States in 1940.

"His great intellect his loyal devotion to the Democratic party and to the people, and his patriotism all command him unreservedly as the ideal man for the Democratic party and the people to promote to the high office of the president of the United States."

State Withdraws Support From WPA Miss. Guide Book.

The Mississippi Advertising Commission has withdrawn its sponsorship of a WPA prepared book, "Mississippi—A Guide to the Magnolia State."

The book had been distributed by the commission after its recent publication. The commission said it withdrew its support because "since publication of the book there has been inaccuracies, errors, and found that a number of errors and since we do not believe the book is published in accord with the policy adopted by this commission, and since we believe that certain parts of it are not justified."

VEGETABLE AND FRUIT CANNING DISCUSSED BY MISS PETERS

County Demonstration Agt.—Meetings Held—Latest Methods Demonstrated.

This is the time of year for fruits and vegetables to be canned. Miss Peters is very much interested in the canning program in Hancock county and she wants everyone to feel free to call on her for any information in regard to this subject, and she will be glad for you to drop in at her office and get the latest material and recipes on canning. She is ready to cooperate and will appreciate very much your cooperation with her.

For the past week she has been holding club meetings at which the latest methods of canning were discussed and the use and operation of the new national steam pressure cooker was demonstrated. Miss Peters also gave a brief talk on "the importance of fruits and vegetables in the diet." She feels that a well balanced diet throughout the year is very important especially to the growing boy and girl, and she realizes that although at times fresh fruits and vegetables are not available but if canned they may be used as substitutes. The school lunch room program is a fine thing and Miss Peters hopes to tie her home demonstration work right in with their program and make the canning program for 1938 and 1939 larger than it has ever been before.

Miss Peters announces that her office hours are from 8-5 on all week days except Saturday, 8-12. The office will be closed on the 4th of July.

Gov. Hugh White's Homestead Exemption Plan Is Attacked.

Governor Hugh White's proposed homestead tax exemption program was attacked by Mississippi mayors as "unfair" and the forerunner of a state political machine.

Mayors, aldermen and other officials of more than twenty Mississippi cities heard speakers express violent opposition to the homestead exemption program outlined in preliminary bills.

Mayor Bill Hosey of Laurel said the program would concentrate such "power and authority" in the hands of the state administration as to "make poor old Huey Long turn over in his grave and blush for his weakness as a political organizer."

The mayors agreed to take their grievances before Governor Hugh White, the chief executive.

W. S. ALLEN, Pastor.

Bro. Peter, former president of St. Stanislaus College, is returning to Bay St. Louis, to assume his duties as chief executive of St. Stanislaus College and taking effect today—Friday, July 1.

Bro. Martinian, provincial of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart at New Orleans, whose jurisdiction embraces most of the United States and part of Canada, announced the transfers, to be effective July 1, affecting Bro. Peter, principal of the Catholic High School at Baton Rouge, and Bro. Macarius, who for the past five years has been in Montreal, Canada.

Brother Peter will return to St. Stanislaus college at Bay St. Louis as president, and Brother Macarius will return to Baton Rouge as principal. He was principal at Baton Rouge when Catholic High school there was St. Vincent's Academy. He was also provincial for three years.

Transfer of Brother Peter back to St. Stanislaus college, where he served for 24 years, part of the time as president, is in accord with canon law requiring that no superior shall serve more than six years in one institution. He will succeed Brother William, president of St. Stanislaus since 1932 and a former president of St. Aloysius college, New Orleans.

Besides having won wide recognition as an educator, Brother Peter is known by thousands of Louisianians and Mississippians for civic and athletic work, particularly in behalf of boys. For several years he was chairman of the boys' work committee of the Rotary organization's 17th District. He has talked on boys' work to Rotary clubs in seven Southern states.

Interest in Athletics

He has served for several years as president of the Southern Amateur Athletic Union, as representative at Baton Rouge of the Louisiana boxing commission, as a member of the executive committee of the Louisiana State High School Athletic Association, vice-president of the National Catholic Athletic Association and vice-president of the Louisiana Sports Association.

In 1937 Brother Peter represented the United States province as a delegate to the international general chapter of his order.

Credit for rapid progress of Catholic High School during his administration is given to his predecessors by Brother Peter. "Someone else sowed the crop; I came in time to harvest it," he explained Saturday, commenting upon the fact that during the past two years applications for enrollment at the school were so heavy that it was necessary to refuse further enrollment.

That is how successful his administration has proven, similar to the preceding years spent in Bay St. Louis as president.

Bro. Peter's return to Bay St. Louis will be hailed with general acclaim. No man has endeared himself more to a community by his work and broadness of vision than he. He sustained the high reputation and prestige home and abroad the college has always enjoyed. A man among men, a gentleman and scholar he is held in high repute by all who know him—regardless of creed or condition. It was with deepest regret he left here 6 years since, transferred to Baton Rouge; it is with equal sense of jubilation and general satisfaction his return to Bay St. Louis is noted.

He will be warmly and unanimously welcomed. Although absent, he has always possessed a warm spot in the hearts and minds of all who knew him. He may rest assured he will again be accorded the fullest cooperation possible in his field of endeavor and everyday private life; that one and all will rally to his banner. It may truly be said that Baton Rouge's loss will be Bay St. Louis' gain.

We are glad to have him back with us again. We feel he has come back home.

15-YEAR-OLD STUDENT VALEDICTORIAN OF CLASS AT COLLEGE

Lee Grevenberg, Honor Student, Led His Class For Full Four-Year Term.

To Lee Grevenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Grevenberg, fell the honor of valedictorian Class '38, St. Stanislaus College, Bay St. Louis, Miss., by reason of merit. This young man, barely 15, graduated with high honors and led his class for the four years. His record is one seldom with parallel. His valedictory was well delivered and received with equal unanimous acclaim. This splendid paper is herewith reproduced in full:

Very Reverent and Reverend Fathers, Beloved Parents, Classmates and Friends:

To me has fallen the privilege of speaking the last words as student of St. Stanislaus and of the class of 1938. Primarily we say farewell to this wonderful institution. We have been sheltered within its walls for four years. These selfsame walls which have offered their protection to scholars for the last eight decades. We have imbibed the spirit of St. Stanislaus, a spirit glorifying honesty and truth rather than fallacy and error. Our hearts have been filled with sincerity, our minds united to God. We fully realize the responsibility of our Christian heritage and education. We represent the vibrant youth of America today. Our training has been complete and thorough. Character has been stressed, and we have labored to develop our own. Our tutoring has included the necessary rudiments of ideals—ambitions—hopes. We have learned to look forward instead of backward, up instead of down and have been shown the reservoir of impending force which keeps from sinking into the fatal lassitude of mediocrity, and have been wont to tap it.

We, the class of '38, firmly vow to uphold our virtues of sincerity, sportsmanship, and courtesy, and look forward with eagerness to the defense of our faith and our democracy.

I find it difficult in the few moments at my disposal to put into words the gratitude and the appropriate farewell, we, as a Class, feel toward our President and Faculty,—that group of devoted and unselfish men who have piloted us thru our four years of school life. Nor is it just because it is a custom, I tender to you, in behalf of my class, our sincere gratitude, our deepest respect, our appreciation for your help when we stumbled over the rocky paths of curricula. When we have seen only blank walls yours has been the helping hand that swept aside the darkness of non-comprehension, and opened wide the door of knowledge. In your dealing with us, justice has been tempered with mercy, and as we turn from you for the last time as a Class, we ask you that you accept again our heartfelt thanks, our deepest appreciation. We assure you that we will always look back upon our alma mater with the same eyes of respect and loyalty, secure in the thought you will be near to help us.

In this hour let us express our deep gratitude and appreciation to our beloved parents, those loved ones who sacrificed that ours might be a complete and christian education.

Many were the hardships and trials encountered and undergone. Numerous were the times of despondency and perhaps regret, but if our gratitude, the gratitude of loving sons, and our future, the future of an education can in any way repay such inconvenience we pray that it might do so. We thank our parents again and again for such opportunity as has been ours and for such splendid encouragement. Nowhere could they have found a more suitable place for the preparation of the life which we are about to begin than at Stanislaus.

LOUISIANIAN HONOR STUDENT AT SAINT STANISLAUS COLLEGE

LEE GREVENBERG

Farewell, my classmates. We have come to the parting of the ways. For four long years we have studied together, learned together, played together. It is a trite expression we stand on the threshold of life, but it is true. Our life work lies ahead, the future beckons us on. We must go out into the world each into his own highway. We must travel different paths, but our only hope is that the winding roads may cross in the distance and we may once more speak to each other in passing. Doubtless many of our tasks have been illly performed and opportunities wasted, but they are a thing of the past and we must look forward with courage to the future. And as the beacon light guides the lost mariner in the tumultuous, so let our attachment be to this grand institution. And as its "Anchors Aweigh" for our life's work, let me repeat my tender farewell, labelled with sorrow at this hour of parting—farewell.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Friends of Bay St. Louis—

I bid you, in the name of the Class of 1938, farewell. You, as a community, hold a special claim upon our gratitude, for it is your interest and support that has made our school the fine and noble seat of learning that it is today, the pride of our country. Your interest has fostered the school of our youth, the school from which we must now part forever in body, but not in spirit. We feel that a parting wave of thought will ever float back to you, for you are indirectly responsible for our days, all-too-short, of happiness spent within the recesses of St. Stanislaus. We thank you for your interest. We thank you for your presence here today, and we bid you all, Farewell, Farewell.

JUNGLE DRAMA MAKES THRILLING TECHNICOLOR FILM

"Her Jungle Love" To Be At A. & G. Theater, Sunday-Monday.

Reunited in the same type of film that vaulted them to screen fame, Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland are seen together again in "Her Jungle Love" the new Technicolor film at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

Milland, whose most recent success was in the color film "Ebb Tide," scores a sensational hit as the young Indo-Malayan transport pilot forced down on a jungle island uninhabited except for the beautiful Miss Lamour, a white "goddess" in the eyes of the surrounding superstition ridden natives.

Lynne Overman, the rubber-faced comedian who plays the part of Milland's partner on the trans-Pacific flight, shares the comedy honors with Jiggs, an unusually talented monkey.

Milland undertakes to teach the lovely Miss Lamour, who has never before seen a white man, the rudiments of civilization, and only realizes the complications he has let himself in for when he tries to make her understand the meaning of the English word "kiss." It is from that point on that he realizes that what had started as a purely impersonal thing has blossomed into a one-sided romance on the part of Miss Lamour.

Set amid scenes of rare beauty in full natural color, the entire action of the picture, with the exception of one or two flash backs, takes place on the exotic jungle isle where Milland first discovered Tura, as Miss Lamour is called in the picture. She sings a new song, "Lovehitch in the Starlight," which hit in the opinion of this reviewer is destined to be even more popular than the "Moonlight and Shadows" of "The Jungle Princess."

The thrilling climax of the picture is an earthquake that destroys an underground temple, where Miss Lamour, Milland and Overman are being held captive by the powerful ruler of the natives, J. Carroll Naish, a mad Eurasian who has puppet using Miss Lamour as his puppet "goddess" to maintain his hold over the islanders.

The picture is charmingly done. The color is magnificent in its brilliance, and Miss Lamour and Milland seem destined to score another tremendous hit with "Her Jungle Love."

A MONKEY'S MEDITATION.

A monkey musing in his cage upon the progress of the age, Half-whispered as I happened by, "This Evolution is a lie."

Surprised to hear him speak so plain, I paused, profounder proof to gain. Unconscious I was there to heed, He thus continued with his creed:

"For mortal man to try to trace Descent from our illustrious race Is rank injustice to our clan, The monkey much surpasses man.

In bloody wars, men butcher men. They slander both with tongue and pen. They cheat, they lie, they swear, they steal; And wild with wine, they rock and reel.

"They trample justice in the dust. They loil in luxury and lust. They sell their very selves for gold, Their men, their women, young and old.

"They laugh at law, they twist the truth, They crucify the dreams of youth. Their hearts are hard as solid stone. They worship God with lips alone.

"Mankind has left a trail of crime, Too foul to sanctify with time. The record of the human race Brings flaming blushes to my face.

"The monkey leads the simple life, Is loyal to his wedded wife. No lady monkey yet, of course Has ever sought or won divorce.

"The monkey home is still serene, The father, king, the mother, queen. The little monkeys, too, obey Their parents in the good old way.

"We have no haunts of sin and shame. No racketeers our ranks defame. Our record stands an open book At which the world has leave to look.

"No self-respecting monkey can. Admit himself akin to man. By all the gods that reign on high, This Evolution is a lie."

SHE'S PERFECT

'Meet "Miss Perfection," whom Pete Smith presents in his latest short "Modeling For Money," as the girl with a perfect figure. WILL ASK NATIONAL AUTHORITIES TO CHANGE DUCK SEASON

Want 45 Days For Hunting Rather Present 30 Days—State Stands to Receive $45,000 in Federal Funds.

Special Sea Coast Echo: Jackson, Miss., June 23.—Efforts to extend the hunting season on ducks and to change the dove season to the first part of September rather than the last 15 days will be made by Mississippi's two delegates to the national meeting of conservation directors and game commissioners in Asheville, N. C., next week.

Representing the state will be Commissioner Reuben R. Banks of Columbus, and Director Si Corley of the State Game and Fish Commission.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace will attend the meeting called to discuss the new federal-state game restoration act and seasons for migratory waterfowl.

"We will propose that the duck hunting season be set for the months of December and January, with hunting allowed every other day or possibly three times each week," Director Corley said. "We will also suggest that live decoys be allowed, because as I see it, the use of live decoy is the same as using a dog for bird hunting."

At present, the duck season is from November 26 to December 26. "Under our suggestion, sportsmen will have about 45 days to hunt," the director explained. "I am certain we will be joined by neighboring states in this proposal."

Director Corley also stated that they will recommend the dove season for the first 15 days of September, instead of the latter 15 days.

Under the federal-state restoration act, Mississippi stands to receive $45,000 in federal funds, to be earmarked by the federal government from excise taxes on sporting goods and will be distributed on a basis of $3 for every $1 the state puts up from funds derived from hunting license sales.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Wants Highway 90 Connected With Bay-Waveland.

June 21, 1938.

Naturally you have a vital interest in promoting the welfare of your city and are anxious to see it developed. Has it ever occurred to you that the short cut now being built from Brown's Vineyard and back to Bay St. Louis will deflect many tourists from stopping in Bay St. Louis?

It has been suggested that an entrance to the Bay is logical via the Beach from Waveland avenue. There is a gravel road now on the avenue but to induce the travelling public to use it there must be some top dressing put on which would relieve the now dangerous and intolerable dust menace.

It is observed that a representative of the Mississippi Highway intends visiting Bay St. Louis this week to discuss topping a road to Poplarville via Kiln. While this project is under discussion, don't you think that the Waveland avenue should receive consideration? There is no entrance to the Bay and Waveland that would be more beneficial to both communities than the above mentioned suggestion, which I offer in the interest of residents of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Trusting to have your favorable consideration, I am

Respectfully submitted,

BAY-WAVELAND TAX-PAYER.

Carrere of New Orleans and Waveland, Miss., to Mr. William Anthony Reiss, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reiss of Sheboygan, Wis., which was celebrated at 11 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Name Jesus on St. Charles avenue, with a large gathering of relatives and friends attending. The groom's father is president of the C. Reiss Coal Company of Sheboygan, Wis., and of the Reiss Steamship Company of Cleveland, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father John Foulkes, S. J., who officiated at the wedding of the bride's parents 25 years ago. The Rev. Foulkes was assisted by the Rev. Father M. J. Costello of Waveland, Miss., and the Rev. Father Joseph E. Delany of Sheboygan, Wis. The church was decorated with the greatest quantity of lovely clusters of white flowers, cybotium ferns and other evergreens. On either side of the long center aisle, attached to every other pew, were large bouquets of white gladioli stock, larkspur, peonies and stephanotis, and in the chancery were tall baskets overflowing with similar flowers. Also in the chancel were the cybotium ferns and upon the altar were lighted tapers and vases filled with calla lilies.

Miss Carrere, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in one of the prettiest wedding gowns noted this season. It was of white tulle worn over white satin and fashioned very bouffant, falling into a very long train. The round neckline of the bodice was trimmed with a deep bertha of exquisite lace used by her mother, the former Miss Claudia Claverie, on her wedding day. The long tight-fitting sleeves were slightly puffed at the top. Trimming the bottom of the very full skirt was a deep accordion pleated ruffle of the tulle and orange blossoms. Her real lace veil which fell over the train of the gown and which was also worn by her mother at her marriage was arranged to her head by a coronet of lace. The bridal bouquet from which fell sprays of the lilies.

The attendants on the bride included Miss Margaret Reiss of Sheboygan, sister of the bride-groom, as maid of honor and Misses Dorothy and Anna Reiss, also sisters of the bridegroom, Misses Eleanor Carrere, of Dayton, Ohio, Margaret Denechaud, Marguerite Cambron, Betty Ricard, Mrs. Louis Claverie, Mrs. James Roenitz of Sheboygan and Miss Helen Stafford. The maid of honor wore pale yellow net over yellow taffeta and a large Leghorn hat trimmed with yellow velvet ribbon and carried Talisman roses and lilies of the valley. The other attendants were in Nile green net over green taffeta and their Leghorn hats were trimmed with green velvet ribbon. They carried arm bouquets of Talisman roses.

Mr. Reiss had as his best man, Mr. Edouard C. Carrere, Jr., brother of the bride and as groomsmen and ushers, Messrs. Stuart McCampbell of New York; Frederick Field of Philadelphia; Nicholas Stahl of Allentown, Pa.; Albert Tipper of Ridgewood, N. J.; Edmund Knauf, Walter Vollrath, Jr., Alfred W. Steffen, Jr., Richard Ballschneider, Clemens Reiss, all of Sheboygan and cousins of the bridegroom; Robert Garret, Carl Jung, both of Sheboygan; Cyril Claverie, Ernest A. Carrere, Jr., a cousin of the bride and Charles Lancaster.

"The Bridal Chorus, from Wagner's 'Lohengrin' was played as the processional and during the ceremony and the signing of the register several lovely selections were rendered. The recessional was Mendelssohn's March.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held at the Orleans Club, with the large drawing room, the several other reception rooms and the dining room regaled with a profusion of evergreens and great masses of a variety of white blossoms. The young couple received room and were assisted by members of the bridal party. Mrs. Carrere, mother of the bride, was also assisted in receiving by Mrs. Reiss, mother of the bridegroom and by Mrs. Auguste Claverie, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. William J. Rietow, of Sheboygan, grandmother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Carrere was in a gown of white crinoline having an all-over flower design of colorful tulips with which she wore a white, hair-braid straw hat trimmed with ribbon to match the colors in the gown and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Reiss was in a white sheer crepe model having an all-over printed design and with the costume she wore a powder blue accessories. Her corsage bouquet was also of orchids. Mrs. Claverie's gown was of brown marquisette worn over brown taffeta and trimmed with white embroidered flowers and her accessories were white and brown. Mrs. Rietow was wearing gray lace and a blue coat with accessories to match. Both she and Mrs. Claverie were also wearing orchids.

Mr. Reiss and his bride left Wednesday evening for New York, whence they will sail aboard the Bremen on a two-month trip thru Europe. Upon their return to this country, they will go to Cleveland, Ohio, to reside on Shaker Heights. The bride chose for traveling a navy blue sheer crepe with which she wore a navy blue hat and accessories.

The bride, who attended St. Joseph Academy, Bay St. Louis and St. Mary-of-the-Woods College, in Indiana, made an informal debut in New Orleans last year when she was chosen as queen of the ball of Mystery and also as a maid in several other Carnival organizations. She is among the popular and lovely members of the younger set in New Orleans and the Gulf Coast. Mr. Reiss, who graduated last week from Princeton, where he was a member of the Campus Club, is also a graduate of Phillips Exeter academy, New Hampshire.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING AT SINGREEN HOME FRIDAY EVENING.

One of the loveliest home weddings was that of Friday evening at the Waveland beach villa of Mr. Edmond Harry Singreen, of New Orleans, when her daughter, Dorothy Alice Singreen became the bride of Mr. James Douglas Faulkner, Jr., of Columbus, Ga.

The Rev. L. D. Lang, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, St. Charles avenue, New Orleans, came out from that city between trains to perform the ceremony of that church.

Enhancing her beauty, the lovely bride was attired in white slipper satin, fashioned along empire lines. Her veil from Belgium, an heirloom, was of Duchess lace, fastened with orange blossoms. She wore a string of pearls belonging to and that had been worn by her mother at her wedding.

She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of Brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Charles R. Walters, of Columbus, Ga., was matron of honor, attractive in a pink net and carried a bouquet of pink roses and forget-me-nots.

Ribbon bearers, forming an aisle through which the bridal party marched, were schoolmates (Newcomb college) of the bride, Misses Amelia Craig, Janie Carre, Dorothy Rae Voss, of New Orleans, and Miss Sue Faulkner, of Columbus, Ga.

The groom was attended by Mr. Harry May, of New Orleans, as best man.

The bride was given away in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Singreen.

Following a lovely reception the bride and groom left on a honeymoon moon trip, traveling by motor. They will reside in New Orleans. The bride's going-away dress was navy blue Georgette, with accessories to match.

Mrs. Singreen, mother of the bride, was attired exquisitely in pink lace with contrasting corsage to match.

Decorations of the spacious and inviting home consisted of pink Radiance roses, gladioli and tube roses in tasteful profusion. The wedding cake of three stories, with the conventional bride and groom atop, centered the main table at refreshment.
